BY BAYARD TAYLOR.

The clouds that sleep from yonder sky

Discharge their burdens and are free;

The streams that take their hazy way,

To find relief in lake or sea.

The wildest winds in vales afar

Sleeps pillow'd on its ruffled wings;

And song, through many a stormy bar,

Beats into silence on the strings!

And Love o'ercomes his young unrest,

And first ambition's flight is o'er;

And Doubt is cradled on the breast

Of perfect faith, and speaks no more.

Our dreams and passions cease to dare,

And homely patience learns her part;

Yet still some keen pursuing care

Forbids content to brain and heart.

The gift unrequited, beyond the hand;

The fault in all of beauty won;

The mildew of the harvest land,

The spot upon the risen sun!

And still some deeper service claims

The will that leaps to loftier call;

Some cloud is cast on splendid aims,

On power achieved some common thrall.

To spoil each beckoning victory

RESOLUTIONS OF CENSURE.—Mr. Boyd.

Resolved, That the House do pass the following resolutions of censure upon the faithless Congressmen who had engaged directly or indirectly in the great salary steal. It was lost by an almost strict party vote—every Democrat voted to censure; but the Radicals could find nothing to condemn in the act. It was so much in keeping with their principles and practices, that their admiration rather than indignation was excited.

In speaking of this matter some days ago, we were free to denounce the transaction as a dishonor to both Radicals and Democrats in Congress who voted for it. The democratic press of the State spoke of the matter in the same way. Mr. Boyd in his speech in support of his resolutions, announced that they were not intended to apply to any particular party, and the democratic members of the Legislature supported him in his view of the case. But the Radical party of Alabama, through its Representatives at Montgomery, has deliberately put itself in the attitude of a champion of the rascals. We are glad of it. Whatever may be the state of the parties elsewhere, in Alabama the lines are clearly defined. Rogues of both parties may combine to steal elsewhere, but not here. The Democrats condemn unqualifiedly the salary steal—the Radical party refuse to condemn. The democracy of Alabama will wash its hands of their members in Congress who have brought dishonor upon the party—the Radical party will receive them with open arms, as hail fellows well met.

What men do not condemn they may on occasion do. Since the Radical members of the Legislature do not condemn the action of Congressmen in voting themselves five thousand dollars more than they agreed to serve for, the Radical Legislature may imitate by voting themselves double pay. It behooves the people to look after those fellows who can view a theft so complacently, and see to it that they do not get a majority in the next Legislature. To prevent this they must all turn out and vote at the next election.

It was our pleasure to take a trip to our neighboring county of Cleburne, last week, and be present at Edwardsville, the county seat, during the holding of the circuit court. The trip, though rather rough, was pleasant.

The town of Edwardsville, we found to be something new, but giving evidence of growth and future improvement. Many new houses were going up, and several others we learned were soon to be commenced. If the projected railroad passes through it, its improvement will surpass the wildest dreams of its inhabitants. We trust that we may soon be able to ride there behind the iron horse.

The court docket was not heavy, which speaks well for the morality and law-abiding spirit of the people. His honor, Judge Whitlock, disposed of the docket very rapidly and court was over at the end of four days.

The people of Edwardsville are noted far and wide for their warm hospitality and friendly treatment of visitors. We are under special obligations to many of our friends there, among whom we may mention Judge Hume and Mr. Johnston, county Treasurer and Register in Chancery.

The Democracy of the county we learned during our stay were on rising ground and in no way afraid of losing the next election. Indeed the party there has steadily increased, until now it overtops its opponent some hundreds of votes. How could it be otherwise, when it numbers in its ranks such men as Wm. Henry, Esq., Col. John C. Barker, Wm. P. Evans, Esq., J. W. Wigginton, Esq., Hon. W. P. Howell, B. Owen, Esq., the Walkers, Crothers, and hosts of other true, noble and patriotic men, who love their country too well to sacrifice its interest for any mere personal advantage. All honor to the gallant Democracy of Cleburne.

The Republican party we found to be an entirely different article from that found in South Alabama. The Republicans of Cleburne are not negro equality men. They are men who were opposed to the war, and split with the Democracy on that issue. But for the war issue there is really nothing to divide the parties. As that is a dead issue, let us hope that the time may not be far distant, when the men of Cleburne, regardless of past party distinctions, will be found in one solid phalanx, shoulder to shoulder, in opposition to the great negro equality State plunderers, thieves, who assail the rights, interests, opinions and honor of white men everywhere.

We have been permitted to see some specimens of monument work, for which our esteemed friend, John A. Fleming, is agent. The monument is made of an amalgam composed of hydraulic cement and other material, and very much resembles marble, when finely finished off. It is quite as pretty as marble, almost as durable, and costs only about one-tenth as much. Those monuments may be cast into any design, however rich or fanciful. No one, however poor, can longer have excuse for neglecting to mark the last resting places of loved ones, since this pretty and durable monument has come into use. It is patented.

Mr. Fleming goes to Newnan, Ga., to sell them.

Rev. Ed. McMillen and E. Gooden, of this place are also Agents for St. Clair county.

The recent passage of the Bill through both branches of the Alabama Legislature for the purchase of West Florida at one million of dollars, reminds us of the boast of a citizen of that fertile State, who said much of it would produce nineteen bushels of Bull Frogs to the acre and Alligators enough to fence it in. We doubt not however, that its productivity in scallawags and carpet buggers had more weight with the Radicals, than even the useful animals named.

AN ACT.

To prescribe the time of holding the courts of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit of Alabama.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, that from and after the passage of this act, the Circuit Courts of the several counties composing the Twelfth Judicial Circuit of the State of Alabama, shall be held at the following times:

In the county of Cherokee, on the first Monday of March and September of each year, and may continue two weeks.

In the county of Etowah on the fourth Monday in March and September of each year, and may continue two weeks.

In the county of St. Clair on the second Monday after the fourth Monday in March and September of each year, and may continue one week.

In the county of Cleburne on the third Monday after the fourth Monday in March and September of each year, and may continue one week.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted that all laws and parts of laws contravening the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Amended, so as not to operate in the counties of Etowah and Cleburne, until after the first of July, 1873. The Bill has been approved by the Governor and is a law. J. M. R.

An Increase of over Fifty-four Millions in Government Expenses.

The total amount of the various appropriation bills passed at the last session of Congress exceeds the amount of the previous session at least fifty-four millions of dollars. The details of the various appropriations are as follows: Preliminary deficiency, $1,039,833; Texan Border Commission, $18,490; pensions, $30,480,000; American and British Claims Commission, $613,500; Indian, $5,512,218; fortification, $1,899,000; consular and diplomatic, $1,311,359; Military Academy, $44,217; legislative, executive and judicial estimated, $19,500,000; naval $22,757; army, $31,795,008; post office $3,529,167; river and harbor, $6,112,000; sundry civil, $32,175,415; deficiency, $9,242,871. Total, $195,510,838.

The New York Herald, which has all along been a zealous supporter of the Grant administration, says: "With the expiration of this debauched and degraded Congress passes away the Republican party. No continued professions of virtue and reform can save the political organization whose leading members, with a large majority in both Houses of Congress, have shielded corruptionists and perjurers, and thus made themselves responsible, as a party for the offences they were too cowardly or too base to condemn."

BY TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—SENATE. Upon the presentation of Mr. Caldwell's letter of resignation to Governor Osborne, of Kansas, Mr. Morton, chairman of the Committee on Election and Privileges, considered that his duty in connection with the matter, was ended. The case of Senator Clayton, of Arkansas, was then taken up, by a vote of 38 to 14.

St. Louis, March 24.—A mob at Chillicothe hung a negro who raped a respectable white woman.

Baltimore, March 29. John Thompson Mason, Secretary of State, died of paralysis.

Philadelphia, March 29. The city already subscribed nearly $800,000 for Centennial.

San Francisco, March 29. Bark Lark, of San Diego for Eusnedos is lost and all aboard.

Washington, March 29. F. Horn, a Virginia drover was murdered and robbed.

London, March 29. The rowing race was born by the Cambridge crew the Oxford crew by three lengths.

Lacouia, N. H., March 28. The house of Jos. Swain, at Gifford village, was burned this morning. Mrs. Swain, aged 82, was burned to death. Mr. Swain was severely burned in trying to save her.

Cheyenne, Wyoming, March 29. A $95,000 fire here today. The supposed incendiary has been arrested.

Detroit, March 26. The house of Henry Peters, near here was burned. While the father and mother were absent, three children were burned to death. The oldest, 14 years old is badly burned. Kerosene is the cause.

Part of Campbellsville, Taylor County, Kentucky, is burned.

Baltimore, March 29.

A collision occurred on the North and Central Railroad, near Liverpool. Two freight trains wrecked and burned. Two persons killed.

Canton, March 29.

A hurricane swept through this city last night. A large number of houses were destroyed and several persons are reported killed. Two loaded cars were lifted from the railroad track and one of them badly wrecked.

HALIFAX, April 2, 1873.

The steamship Delta, dispatched to the scene of the disaster to the Atlantic, has not returned, and no later information can be given. The Atlantic had 900 storage passengers; and 50 cabin passengers; not a woman or child is saved.

St. Louis, April 2.

The whole Democratic ticket was elected in St. Louis by over 3000 majority.

The Democrats elected mayor of Milwaukee and the entire Democratic County ticket.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Halifax, April 2.

Only three or four cabin passengers were saved from the wreck of the Atlantic—one Englishman and three Frenchmen. Only one lady passenger attempted to save herself; she was frozen to death in the rigging and fell into the water. Some of the passengers arrived in this city to-day and gave harrowing details of the calamity. The names of officers or passengers saved are not known as yet. The Relief is expected up at 2 o'clock. The Atlantic had eight hundred and fifty storage passengers and thirty saloon. There had been two births during the voyage. The crew numbered 142 and there were 14 stowaways discovered.

Three hundred in all were saved out of the total number of 1,038. There is nothing in the shape of documents saved from the steamship Atlantic. The list of passengers will be obtained if possible upon the return of the steamers from the wreck.

A steamer passenger makes the following statement: "I turned into my berth about 11 o'clock Monday night. The night was dark, but starlight and weather fine. I knew the ship was going into Halifax for coal. The last I remember was that two bells at one o'clock struck. I then went to sleep, and woke up with a shock and remarked to my mate, 'there goes anchor.' I thought of course we were safe in Halifax harbor, but as soon as we made the second plunge, I said, 'Good God she is ashore.' At that we got up and dressed. The companion way was thronged with lower storage passengers. Seeing that the sea was commencing to break over the ship and lower down the companion way, I got as many as possible to take the bunks and hold on by the iron stanchions there until after daylight. The ship had fallen over one side only being out of it. Our only chance of escape was the ports. Numbers of men—probably twenty—got out through the ports to the side of the vessel. I remained until all who were alive were out. There were a great many drowned in their bunks, and others were drowned while trying to reach the ports. I got out through a port and held fast to the side of the ship for about two hours and then went to shore by the line. When I left the ship there were still a great many in the rigging. Of the steamer passengers 413 are known to be saved, and about the same number lost."

TRUST SALE.

UNDER and by virtue of a Deed of Trust made and executed to me as Trustee, on the 1st day of January, 1872, by William Pugh for the benefit of Wm. F. Bush, I will sell, at public outcry, to the highest bidder, for cash, before the Court House door of Calhoun County,

Dr. C. C. Porter

HAS for the present removed his office to his residence on Spring hill. He will attend to all work in his line. The fullest satisfaction guaranteed. Jan. 18, 1873.

SHRUBS AND FLOWERS.

The undersigned is now prepared to furnish, at most reasonable prices, a variety of Ceanothus, Abutilons, Cannas, Begonias, Heliotropes, Ixias, Pelargoniums, Verbenas, Tuberoses, Gladioli, Mosses for hanging baskets, and many other rare and beautiful flowers and shrubs.

Mrs. M. R. FRANCIS, Jacksonville, Ala.

The times of holding the Circuit Court of Calhoun County have been changed by the Legislature. The Spring Term will commence the third Monday after the fourth Monday of March, which will be the 14th day of April, and continue two weeks. Jurors, witnesses and parties recognized to appear, must attend according to law at that time without any new summons or notification, except those summoned for the third week, who are not required to attend at all.

James F. Crow. Notwithstanding this enterprising and accomplished Grocery Merchant is selling rapidly, he is constantly increasing his stock both in quantity and variety.

He is now selling out his choice fresh Tennessee Bacon at wholesale prices. Call soon, if you wish to get a good article at low price.

W. T. & C. S. Alexander has just received a fresh supply of Green Corn, Tomatoes, Peaches, Pine Apples, Strawberries, Beans, and everything that is nice. When you buy, go to see them!

It would be to the interest of those who wish to purchase groceries, to call on W. T. & C. S. Alexander, as they have on hand and will continue to keep, the best and cheapest assortment, of any one in Jacksonville.

W. T. & C. S. Alexander's cheaper than any one, for Groceries get cheaper with every day.

SPECIAL REQUEST.—Our subscribers, who are indebted for one or more years, would confer on us a special and much needed favor by settling up during Circuit Court. From all such, who pay up before the close of the Court, the advance price, Two Dollars per year will be received. Those who do not attend Court personally, can send by their neighbors.

Great reduction in the price of Groceries at W. T. & C. S. ALEXANDER'S. The Nic Pickles at W. T. & C. S. ALEXANDER'S. Fresh supplies of Buckwheat at W. T. & C. S. ALEXANDER'S. 150 Flour in great quantity at W. T. & C. S. ALEXANDER'S.

A few days ago a very serious difficulty occurred in Cross Plains, at the place of business of Mr. John Faughender, in which Mr. Hugh Vincent, of Cherokee County was badly cut by a negro. It seems that Mr. Vincent had brought a lot of corn to Mr. Faughender. While Messrs. F. & V. were inside the house, engaged in a settlement, three drunken negroes named Andy O'Neal, Bill Hawkins and Jo. Alexander, came up and raised a difficulty with Tom Daniel, Mr. V's negro driver, who was in charge of his team at the door. Some words passed, when the driver came running into the house, pursued by two of the negroes with drawn knives, imploring the protection of his employer. Mr. Vincent interposed and ordered the men to put up their knives and leave the house. One of them obeyed, one of them never entered the house, but the third one—who did the stabbing—was a violent and approached Mr. V. in a very insolent and threatening manner. To intimidate him, Mr. V. rubbed his stick against his head and again ordered him to leave the house and let his driver alone; when quick as thought, the negro stabbed him in the back. The knife passed into his shoulder about the hip and penetrated six inches toward the region of the bladder. It is feared he will die.

Although immediately pursued, the would be murderer, Andy O'Neal, had not, up to latest accounts, been captured. He is a low, chunky, black negro, quick spoken and active, and can be easily identified. It is hoped he may be arrested and brought to justice. The two negroes who were with him were arrested on the spot.

Cheapest meat in the world. MINCE-MEAT. Col. Parr is selling it at 10 cents per lb. Go and get a supply.

OBITUARY.

A good man has gone to his reward. COL. JOHN D. HICKS died at his residence, in Jacksonville, on Monday the 24th day of March, last. He was born in Lincoln, N. C., on the 9th day of September, 1803, and moved to Jacksonville in November, 1835, since which time he has been a resident of this place. He was one of our oldest, most prominent and useful citizens. In all the different relations of life, he bore himself above reproach—an affectionate husband, a kind and indulgent father, a warm and generous friend, an honest and upright man.

In 1848 he was received into the Communion of the Episcopal Church, by the Holy rite of Confirmation, and in his daily walk and conversation exemplified the beautiful precepts of Christianity. Like all others, his lot in life was one of mingled joy and sorrow—he was happy in the loved society of wife, children and friends; by industry and energy he had accumulated a competent fortune. He saw a child after child, whom he tenderly loved, smitten by the hour frost of death, and like young blossoms fall, one by one, from the tree of life.

Like many others, he saw his property swept from him by the vicissitudes of war. Yet he neither murmured nor repined at these chastisements of a good and merciful God. But in the evening of life, the hand of disease upon him, he girded up his strength, and with renewed energy, bravely struggled with the ills of fortune, anxious to accomplish his mission, manfully to complete his allotted task.

But as the darkness began to disappear, and through the clouds the light of hope again to shine in the heavens, he sank to his rest. It is his rest after the conflict of life—the race ended—the victory won; and now, in the bosom of his mother earth, his body peacefully awaits the resurrection morn.

To that sorely bereaved wife, sitting in her widowed house, and the orphan children, we can offer no words of consolation that have not already suggested themselves a hundred times to their hearts. They are believers in that sublime and beautiful doctrine of the Primitive Apostolic Church—the Communion of Saints—that the spirits of the just made perfect in Heaven and the spirits of the imperfect just on earth, form an unbroken brotherhood, and commune, one with the other—that the forms of the departed are visible in this lower orb to the eyes of faith and their voices audible to the ear of love.

They can look up through their tears and say, "Let a little while" and we shall see that loved form again, face to face, clothed upon with immortality.

In the meanwhile they are under the care and protection of their Heavenly Father, tenderer than any earthly parent to love, wiser to counsel, mightier to save.

MARCH 31st, 1873.

Editors Republican.—Suppose we have a call meeting of the Agricultural Society of Calhoun County, at the Court House, on the 2nd Monday of our Circuit Court, which sits next Monday week 2nd Monday in April. What say you? If the Society ever could be of any utility, this is the time when it should exert its influence.

The present aspect of Agricultural interests, demand of every farmer, his earnest untiring and united efforts; to advance the general and special interests of Agriculture.

Will the officers and members arouse from their forgetfulness and meet at that time? Will many others, may every patriotic farmer attend. This is a trying time on the farmers and the people generally. Much of importance will come before the Society. Something of importance may be accomplished, and we hope will.

Respectfully, &c.

DIVERS MEMBERS.

P. S.—Since writing the above one of the members has received a communication of some importance from the "Department of Agriculture," which he wishes to lay before the Society for their consideration—and he is advised that there is on hand a quantity of Seeds &c, for distribution—who will meet on 2nd Monday in April and get some.

Col. Parr is selling the best IRISH POTATOES at $3 50 per Bu. or $2 00 per bushel, and all other Groceries very low. Call all who want to buy.

TALLADEGA, ALA., April 2nd, 1873.

Mr. Grant: Permit me to publish through the REPUBLICAN, the Sabbath School Convention which we propose to hold in Jacksonville during my next appointment in your place, beginning on Friday night, the 18 of April.

Friday night, sermon by Rev. J. C. Wright, of Oxford.

Saturday, address by Rev. E. T. Smyth of Oxford.

Saturday night, address by Rev. S. Henderson, of Alpine.

Sabbath, 9 a. m., address by Prof. Goodhue, of Oxford.

Sabbath, 11 a. m. sermon by Rev. W. Wilkes, of Fayetteville.

The afternoon of Sabbath will be provided for on the occasion. All the children and friends of Sabbath Schools are invited to meet with us; those in Jacksonville and in the region around. The speakers are all experienced in their discourses with reference to some branch of the Sabbath School work.

President of the Baptist State Sabbath School Board.

The system needs rousing and strengthening; not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterwards into a more pitiable condition than ever (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary alcoholic stimulant was resorted to), but radically and permanently.

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to this question, founded on the unvarying experience of a quarter of a century, is easily given. Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but wake the system up by recuperating the fountain head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support.

By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel its benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves. Persuade until the cure is complete—until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh and muscle, bone and nerve and brain, flows through the channels of circulation, instead of the watery pulchrum with which they have heretofore been imperfectly nourished.

OLD AND GOOD.

Dr. Wm. Brazier's Liver Cordial has been in use by the public for a quarter of a century and it steadily preserves and increases its reputation as the best remedy for Biliousness, Jaundice and other liver diseases that is known.

READ THE TESTIMONY.

Covington P. O., Tipton Co., Tenn., Oct. 24, 1870.

Messrs. Mansfield & Hughes: GENTLEMEN: Permit me to call your attention to the action of your Brazier's Liver Medicine in cases of old chronic chills. It is well known that when acute becomes chronic, the trouble is frequently with the liver, and that quinine, unassisted, will then have no curative power. I find this illustrated in my own case, having had three-day chills for several years, while residing in Shelby county, Tenn., Mississippi, on White river, Ark., and near this place. My occupation being that of teaching, I found much trouble from these chills which seemed to be gradually undermining my constitution; yet no preparation or prescription that I tried afforded me more than temporary relief. A series of circumstances induced me to give your Brazier's Liver Medicine a trial, and it acted like a charm, effecting rapidly a perfect cure. The action of this medicine upon the liver is certainly very remarkable, and its effect upon my general health has been such as not only to give me great pleasure, but to give the medicine quite an increased reputation in this neighborhood.

The Eastman Atlanta Business College.

This Institution has achieved a success which is unparalleled in the history of Commercial Colleges. Starting in Atlanta, Ga., May 9th, 1871, with four students, it has now nearly THREE HUNDRED STUDENTS to attest its superior merits. The secret of its wonderful success is first, it is the only College in the South that is conducted on the ACTUAL BUSINESS PLAN. It keeps up to the letter of its advertisements. 3d. It is conducted by men who have had years of experience as practical accountants, business men, and teachers. The total cost for a full course including board, washing, tuition, books, and stationery will not exceed $120. For specimens of Penmanship and College Journal containing full information, Address G. L. DEWEY, Pres't, P. O. Box 535, Atlanta, Ga. mar. 22—34.

ENTERPRISE IN BUSINESS.

We like enterprise, and we know of no class of business men displaying more of it than the newspaper publishers of America. The Publishers of Our Fireside Friend, Chicago, announce this week in our columns, their second Annual Distribution of premium to subscribers. This excellent story and Family weekly is now in its third volume. Its success has been great. It is firmly established as one of the leading weeklies of the Union, with the largest circulation of any paper in the West. Its success may in no slight degree be attributed to its method of distributing premium which is permanent with the paper, being held annually. Its distribution last year gave general satisfaction. The list of premiums is fine and secure to every subscriber for 1873 a premium either in cash or some one of the valuable articles mentioned in the list. We cheerfully recommend the paper. Their plan of distributing premiums is a notable part of their well conducted enterprise and our readers need have no doubt as to their being fairly dealt with. The paper is a financial success. Its immense circulation enable its publishers to offer this valuable list of premiums, and to fully carry out their plan of distributing them. Specimen copies of the paper and premium list giving full particulars may be had by addressing the Publishers Chicago.

Now stop saying "Times are hard," "can't get anything to do," "No, No," and wait at once to the undersigned, who will guarantee RESPECTABLE and PROFITABLE employment to all who desire it; both MALE and FEMALE, and send full particulars free. Address immediately, M. R. SCULLIN & CO., Main street, Okolona, Miss. mar. 20—44.

$100 REWARD!

STOLEN from the stable of the undersigned, near Jacksonville, Ala., on Saturday night 20th March, 1873, a Black Mare, medium size, high on the withers, about seven years old; her right fore leg inside, between the ankle and knee, a lump about the size of a minnie ball; and a small foot for her size, rather long. A saddle, McAllen tree, with small iron stirrups; and a Bridle with flat buckles connecting head stall to bit and reins, and rings connecting brow band, and reins tolerably wide, taken at the same time. I will give the above reward for the Mare and Bridle, or $50 for either. Information that fully recovers the reward, will be paid. J. W. GIBNEY.

[From the Aldine for March.]
INCONSTANCY.

Against the curtain'd pane, beloved,
The snow beats thick and fast,
The winds wail sorrowful refrain
Is tolling of the past—
And in the old familiar chair,
Beside the hearth's fire glow,
I sit and sing the tender air
You loved so long ago.

Al, often since the springs, beloved,
Have bloomed above your rest,
I breathe the sweet old song that sings
Itself within my breast—
As children in the cheerless days
When winter darkly lowers,
Retrace the garden's sudden ways,
And talk of last year's flowers.

It never seemed to you beloved,
When we walked hand in hand,
Amid the sunshine and the dew
Of youth's enchanted land—
It never seemed to you or me
That I could sing so sadly,
If you were lying silently
Within your grave the while.

We thought we could not live, beloved,
If we were torn apart—
That earth would have no more to give
To either stricken heart—
Alas, the change that time has wrought!
Your grave has held you long,
And in a home where you are not,
I sing the dear old song!

Do you look back to me, beloved,
From out your happy sphere,
And deem me false, that I can be
Alive, and you not here?
Death does not always bring its balm
To every aching life,
Life may outlast its dearest charm,
And heartbreak does not kill.

It would have been the same, beloved,
Had I been first to die—
Another love had worn your name,
More dear perchance, than I.
Ah, after all these weary years,
Would you drop these bitter tears,
And sing the dear old song?

Fences.

A bill was recently introduced into our Legislature, says a Tennessee Journal, by Mr. Allison, of Williamson, contemplating the enactment of some law by which the prodigious expenses of keeping up fences may be obviated. We hope a revolution may be brought about by this bill which shall compel the law makers to recognize the principle that each farmer should take care of his own animals, and not compel his neighbor to protect himself against their ravages at a great expense and trouble. A fee simple in land should carry with it the right to be undisturbed and free from molestation, not only from man but from stock. A king may not enter the premises of a peasant without his permission, is the doctrine of the common law, and yet the wild animals belonging to an individual are allowed privileges that are not granted to the individuals themselves. A few years ago the people of Maine undertook to gather statistics to determine the expense to them of building roads and line fences. The figures went up into millions, and all this sum is really so much abstracted from the industrial interests of the country, and add immensely to the cost of living. We are glad to learn that the agitation of this question is going on all over the United States, especially where grain growing is carried on, and in regions where timber is scarce and dear. There are parts of Middle Tennessee where timber is so scarce fences will have to be abandoned from necessity, if not from policy. The cost of material

"Court week" opens up Monday. A good time to fall in and settle subscriptions. Money might scarce with us just now.

That old party has got tired of waiting for the day of judgment to verify what people say of others, and has gone to telling all she hears as "God's truth."

Billy Alexander has bought the McAdams place and is giving it a thorough overhauling. As Billy is very tasty, he will make it one of the most attractive cottages in that end of town.

The Court House is receiving a thorough overhauling, and when complete will look as good as new, and be one of the most attractive public buildings in North Alabama.

Beet Seed.

Several varieties—fresh and sound at Col. Parr's—Call soon.

A subscription will be started to erect two fountains on the square this Summer. They would add greatly to the attractiveness of the town. Won't cost much. Can't our people grow liberal and meet the subscription papers in a liberal spirit?

W. T. & C. S. Alexander keep Better Groceries, Cheaper Groceries and more of them than anyone; and the handsomest young man in Jacksonville will be the most beautifully shaded town in North Alabama.

We were frequently asked while below about the schools of Jacksonville. Our invariable reply was "Excellent"—send up your boys or girls, as the case may be. Jacksonville combines the advantages of both health and educational facilities.

We tender our sincere and hearty thanks to that prince of Florists and Seedsmen, Mr. JAMES VICK, of Rochester, N. Y., for a handsome present, consisting of a box of Lillies, Gladioli and Tritomas.

Our friends may rest assured that orders sent to Mr. V. will be correctly and promptly filled.

Mr. J. D. Privett has laid upon our table a specimen of Luzerne, grown up on his place this Spring, which is from two to two and a half feet high. This Luzerne is much more productive than clover, and can be cut four times a year. One acre of it will feed as much stock as five acres of corn. It grows well wherever we have seen it tried. Calhoun county farmers would do well to raise this valuable and prolific stock feeder.

The Banner County Hose Co. has received an invitation from Lomax Fire Co., No. 4, through its President, Mr. B. H. Screws, to be present in Montgomery at the annual celebration of the Fire Companies of that city, to come off the 16th inst. It promises to be a grand affair, and we hope our boys will send down a delegation, at least.

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE.—We mentioned in the REPUBLICAN of the 22nd ult., the gratifying fact that Mrs. Marlowe, who was sent to the Tuscaloosa Asylum for the Insane from this county, was believed to be sufficiently restored to return home safely, and that her husband had gone after her. We have been truly pained to learn, however, that Mrs. M., after her return, suddenly relapsed, and cut her throat, from which she died in about twenty-four hours.

Absence from home at the time, and an immediate subsequent absence of the one who does up "the locals for the REPUBLICAN," prevented notice that was due the brilliant anniversary celebration of the Banner County Hose Company.

The parade and exercises reflected the very highest credit on the efficiency of the company in the drill and evolutions necessary to combat successfully the fiery element. Jacksonville is justly very proud of its efficient Fire Department.

We are indebted to Col. John B. Peck, Sup't. of the S. R. & D. R. R. for favors to this office.—We do not know of any appointments fraught with more good to the Road, or any that have given us more sincere pleasure, than those of Col. Peck, as Superintendent, and Judge Walker, as Receiver. Whatever may be the fortune of the Road in the courts, we hope these gentlemen may be retained in its management.

FROST AND FRUIT.—Last Thursday morning we had a light frost, but not so much as to injure fruit or tender vegetation. A good fruit crop is now confidently anticipated in this section. We would advise all who have peach and apple trees, to prepare for drying and putting the fruit up in cans. In consequence of the total destruction of the peach crop and great injury done the apple crop, by the extremely cold weather of last winter, in the north-west, and the great injury done the peach crop, south of us, by the late frosts, dried fruit will be high priced; and a little thoughtful preparation and industry might add greatly to the resources of this section.

Our advertising columns to day contain a list of Dr. R. V. Mitchell's valuable Family Medicines. We have received from the Doctor specimens of his medicines, and circulars containing numerous testimonials of their value and efficacy, from persons living in the immediately surrounding country, who had tried them.

It would certainly be wiser and better, to get medicines near home, from well known, reliable and skillful physicians, such as Dr. M., than from distant strangers of whom we know nothing—thus retaining in our own country millions of money, and encouraging at home talented and skillful physicians, who must of necessity, from practical experience be well acquainted with the peculiar type of southern diseases. Send for these medicines and give them a fair trial.

Dr. M. will fill large or small orders for Physicians and Druggists, upon terms which will enable them to nearly double their money at ordinary retail prices.

PERSONAL.—We were pleased to receive a call during the past week, from Dr. AYER's traveler, B. F. GRAVES, who was in our town "devoting" his time and attention to the preparations of the great medicine man. This call has become a pleasant annual to us from the able and reliable business character of the accomplished gentleman, whom this firm send out to transact their business. No house is better known or valued by the press, for its promptness in settling with the well established and popular J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., whose Medicines have become a household necessity, and won the confidence and praise of all. Our own acquaintance with them has extended over a series of years, and we have invariably found them, their travelers and their medicines, worthy of the commendations

We published last week a request for a meeting of the Agricultural Society of Calhoun county on the 2nd Monday of our Circuit Court, which will be Monday week. Since then, we learn that business of importance will be transacted, and interesting questions discussed, and that many members are very anxious to have a full attendance.

SPECIAL REQUEST.—Our subscribers, who are indebted for one or more years, would confer on us a special and much needed favor by settling up during Circuit Court. From all such, who pay up before the close of the Court, the advance price, Two Dollars per year will be received. Those who do not attend Court personally, can send by their neighbors.

TORPIDITY. Torpidity of the liver is a great source of disease. Stimulants and pleasant drinks may stave off for a while sickness, but so long as the liver remains inactive, disease will remain. In such cases, Dr. William Brazier's Liver Medicine will be found a sovereign specific. This great South Carolina remedy has been used for twenty years for diseases of the liver with unvarying success.

READ THE EVIDENCE. Rogelle & Co., at O. K. Landing, Mississippi river, state their customers are highly delighted with the specific effect of Dr. William Brazier's Liver Medicine. They claim this remedy has fully answered all the purposes of blue mass, calomel, and other alteratives, by its prompt action on the liver, regulating the flow of bile, and neutralizing miasmatic influence. Chills and fever, jaundice, torpid liver, and all those diseases originating from miasmata, are promptly cured by the use of this great liver medicine. They further state their sales are enormous and constantly increasing.

The Eastman Atlanta Business College.

This Institution has achieved a success which is unparalleled in the history of Commerce Colleges. Starting in Atlanta, Ga., May 29th, 1871, with four students, it has already sent out to the business world nearly THREE HUNDRED STUDENTS to attest its superior merits. The secret of its wonderful success is this: It is the only College in the South that is conducted on the ACTUAL BUSINESS PLAN. It keeps up, to the letter of its advertisements. It is conducted by men who have had years of experience as practical accountants, business men, and teachers. The total cost for a full course including board, washing, tuition, books, and stationery will not exceed $120. For specimens of Penmanship and College Journal containing full information, Address G. E. DITWILLER, President, P. O. Box 535, Atlanta, Ga. mar. 22—St.

Half Alive.

It is a sad thing to pass through life only half alive. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility. They complain of no specific disease; they suffer no positive pain; but they have no relish for anything which affords mental or sensual pleasure to their more robust and energetic fellow-beings.

In nine cases out of ten this state of lassitude and torpor arises from a morbid stomach. Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body. When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food, every organ is starved, every function interrupted.

Now what does common sense suggest under these circumstances of depression? The system needs rousing and strengthening; not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterwards into a more pitiable condition than ever (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary alcoholic stimulant was resorted to); but radically and permanently.

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to the question, founded on the unvarying experience of a quarter of a century, is easily given. Infuse new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but wake the system up by re-creating the fountain-head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support. By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel its benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest will be created. Perservere until the cure is complete—until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh and muscle, bone and nerve and brain, flows through the channels of circulation, instead of the watery pabulum with which the dyspeptic is supplied.

From a note in hand we learn that Messrs. Hal Forney and Jim Farmer have just returned from a farm prospecting tour.—They report the crops very excellent.

Col. Parr is selling extra Buckwheat Flour at 8c per lb. Mince Meat at 10c per lb. Go and get some of Col. Parr's nice Summer drinks. Lemonade Syrup, 30c per bottle. Lemonade Sugar, 50c per can.

CANTON'S FATE.

A Miss Town Left in Ruins by a Furious Tornado in Half a Minute.

MEMPHIS, April 1.—The storm at Canton, Miss., seems to have been much greater than was inferred from the meagre dispatches. An extra issue from the Mail office Saturday morning says: "We had gone to press last night and had begun printing off our paper, when there came up the most destructive tornado ever experienced in this region of country."

The clouds had been very threatening and vivid, and incessant flakes of lightning presaged a storm, but no one expected the fearful gale that suddenly burst upon us about eight o'clock. Families sitting peacefully at their firesides, not dreaming of danger, were in a few seconds to be rendered homeless, and barely escape with their lives. The course of the tornado was from the northwest, and the track was scarcely over seventy yards in width; perhaps not as wide and lay through the center of the town. Houses were utterly demolished and blew away, leaving bare walls standing, twisted and distorted in all manner of shapes. Brick walls, buildings and solid chimneys were blown down, missiles were sent through the air, such as timbers, bricks and pieces of wood with fearful force. The occasion altogether beggars description. The Pearce House is in ruins, and the stores and shops above it, one of which was a one-story brick store, levelled with the ground. The old stone house is a wreck, with the roofing, galleries and pillars all gone. Dwelling houses that are mere heaps of timbers, kitchens and out-houses are blown absolutely away, yards swept clean of every living thing, poultry, dogs and all, vanished utterly, substantial dwellings torn from their foundations, heavily laden cars blown from the track, pieces of timber carried nearly a hundred yards, and buried where they fell in the earth, will convey an idea of the ruin accomplished last night, all in about half a minute's time.

Boiling Hot Water for a Practical Joker.

There is a lawyer in San Francisco, who, for the accommodation of some of his clients, has a speaking to be leading from the main entrance of his building to his office, which is just up a few flights. For several days past a smart young fellow named Swartz has amused himself by calling for the lawyer through the pipe, and then profanely ordering him to set out on an expedition to Tartarus. For some time this fun was taken in good part by the legal expounder of the new code, until the fine humor of the joke no longer became apparent.

Accordingly, one afternoon, the disciple of Blackstone provided himself with a teakettle of water, heated to about 210 degrees, Fahrenheit, and waited alongside the pipe. Pretty soon the old, familiar sound came up through the pipe, "Say, cap, how's tricks?" "Tricks is better now—I guess he'll get well," responded the lawyer, reaching out after the tea kettle.

"What's been the matter with him?"

"He got burnt."

"How?"

"I'll tell you in a minute."

"Oh, you go to hades."

The lawyer had finished his last sentence and then let a quart of scalding water down the pipe. Swartz had his mouth over it, concluding his obligation, and when the water struck it he was somewhat surprised. Water was apt to surprise him; but hot water was an unexpected novelty.

The man above poured in the water for about a minute and then looked out of the window. The smart young man was getting along the sidewalk at a pretty lively gait, having evidently just got up from a sitting posture. He was trying to yell "Police," but couldn't articulate with much success. About half an hour afterward he found himself able to speak and inquired: "Did that boiler explosion hurt anybody?"

AN ACT

To increase the pay of bailiffs.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Alabama, That hereafter all bailiffs shall receive two dollars per day for each day's attendance on the circuit, city, criminal or probate courts in this State, the money to be paid out of the jury funds, in the same way jurors are paid.

Approved, March 19, 1873.

New York Press on the Atlantic Disaster.

[From the Sun, of the 3d.]

On Tuesday morning last, some hour before dawn, one of the finest of transatlantic steamers was run ashore on a thoroughly well-known and dangerous coast within twenty miles of a safe harbor. And yesterday morning thousands of persons in England and America read, with horror, of the loss of seven hundred and fifty lives, mostly women and children, and asked themselves, "Why did this happen?"

Was it because the supply of coal was insufficient for a voyage of ordinary duration across the Atlantic at this season, thus rendering it necessary to proceed to Halifax along the perilous coast where the wreck occurred?

Was it because every officer on board was so ignorant of his profession as to be absolutely unaware of the true position of the steamer on this fatal night, up to the very moment when she crashed upon the rocks, which were unheralded even by a single warning cry from the lookout?

Was it because the commander was quietly slumbering in his cabin while each thro of the engines carried the helpless inmates of the mighty ship on to their death?

Among the 250 persons saved there is not one woman or child. When the emigrant ship Northfleet was sunk off Dungeness Light house, on the English coast, not many weeks since, her Captain stood at the gangway, revolver in hand, to prevent any man save the oarsmen entering the boats until the women were safely disembarked and before this was completed he went down with his ship and perished.

The Commander of the Atlantic, however, remains to tell the tale, and a dreadful one it is. In a single respect his escape is a subject of congratulation. He can now be called to an account. There is such a thing known to the law as criminal negligence; and of the worst degree of it he is certainly guilty.

THERE must have been gross carelessness in the management of the steamer Atlantic by its officers or the terrible calamity would not have occurred. ROBERT THOMAS, the Quartermaster, perceived that the ship was out of her reckoning and was running into danger. He informed the second officer, MERCALE, who refused to listen to him and made a saucy reply. He told the fourth officer, Brown, that he would not see land until he struck upon it, and begged to be permitted to go to the main yards, where he could act as look-out. This request the fourth officer denied and the giant vessel pursued her way swiftly on to destruction. Nearly an hour before the steamer struck the Captain was informed that the weather was thick, and that they were in an ice-field. He knew also he was off a dangerous coast, and could not be far from land. Still he did not make his appearance on deck. While the officers thus appeared careless and negligent of their duty, blind to the warnings they had received from an intelligent associate the crew is said to have been the hardest ever gathered in any vessel, picked up about the Liverpool docks, and it was with the greatest difficulty that they were kept under control during the voyage.

To such a crew, and with such officers, the lives of nearly 1,000 people were entrusted. There should be a right investigation into this most deplorable and wholesale catastrophe.

Random Verses.

This morn the sun rose bright and clear,

And seemed in gladness shining.

But now behold, the beams appear

In Western skies declining.

Thus anguish, men the world begin,

With prospects bright before them;

As life speeds so, the light grows dim,

And darkness soon comes o'er them.

With me, the flowers of hope decay,

My path no more adorning;

One by one they've passed away,

As dew-drops in the morning.

Of all that might be shining,

Oh, let me meet the life of fate,

And bow without repining.

'Tis folly all to seek delight

In such a world of sorrow;

Woe follows woe as shades of night

Succeed each dawn of morn.

If transient joys are sometimes caught

From fortune, fate, or beauty,

Alas, they're almost always bought

At some expense of duty.

Oh, who, in manhood ever met

The joy his life has expected?

And who, in life, has never wept

O'er ruin'd hopes, or dejected?

O'er things we hold the dearest,

And when we fancy pleasure nigh,

Oh, misery then is nearest.

But there's a fairer land than this,

Beyond the mind's conceiving,

Where man may reap eternal bliss,

Without sorrow or grieving.

A lovely land, where nothing fades,

Affection knows no blighting;

And disappointment throws no shades

O'er hopes that are inviting.

Then thither let me wend my way,

My life no longer wasting

On seeming joys, which fade like day,

Or turn to gall in tasting.

That lovely home, that brighter sphere,

Is spread for all who travel here

In piety's uprightness.

Our Post Master, Billy Alex, has made application, it is said, to have the postal route between this place and Chickasaw, Ga., discontinued, for reasons best known to himself.

A little fellow, run into our office last Friday with the remark: "Here quick, Mr. Editor, give me a speech of about four lines—I've got just fifteen minutes to get it in—won't you let me say my old ones—and I'll whop me like the dickens if I don't say something."

SPECIAL REQUEST.—Our subscribers, who are indebted for one or more years, would confer on us a special and much needed favor by settling up during Circuit Court. From all such, who pay up before the close of the Court, the advance price, Two Dollars per year, will be received. Those who do not attend Court personally, can send by their neighbors.

We were pleased to receive a call last Thursday from Mr. Chas. Johnson, representing that excellent paper, the Montgomery Advertiser.

Meek looking, thin sided, lank flanked calves that have lived all winter on nothing, are lying down and dying now when there is something to eat. As a general rule, grass don't agree with calves. We have been shown a picture frame, made by Mr. Boyles of this place, which for uniqueness of design we have never seen surpassed. It was made entirely with his knife, consists of many hundreds of pieces and is joined together without the help of nails, tacks, screws or glue. The picture is held to its place by the self-adjustment of the frame. He is prepared to sell these frames, one of which can be seen at Crawford's furniture store.

South Alabamians who may wish to spend the Summer in the most delightful and health-giving climate in the world, are invited to Jacksonville. The pure water from the mountains becomes impregnated with iron in passing through the pipes for a distance of two miles, and is very healthy and palatable. The chromo, "Lost Babe," that we give to every subscriber of the LAND & LAW ADVISOR, a paper advertised in another column, is a very pretty picture. We have the chromos here, ready for delivery, as soon as the subscription price, Three Dollars, is paid to us. The paper is an excellent one, and the chromo alone is worth the price of both. Call at this office and see both the paper and picture. apl 19-41.

That remarkably curious old institution is not talking now as much as she did. She is afraid that when she tells anything, people will at once say: "Thou art the man" heretofore alluded to.

NOTE.—As the discussion of this subject is becoming somewhat dangerous, we will state that the old party does not live in Jacksonville. By no means. We've never talk about each other in Jacksonville. We've never too much regard for the teachings of St. Paul for that!

"In the Spring a livelier iris changes on the burnished dove;
In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

Sertainly! Anybody can perceive the force of that "observation," as Samuel Weller would remark, who but casts an eye around and lets it rest upon any one of the favorite promenades of the boys and girls of Jacksonville, any pretty evening. It was the same way when we were a boy. Ah! those dear, delightful days, when our voice was just changing tune, when we thought we could sing tenor (with tremolo attachment), and flit, and knew it all, and run on good clothes and soap locks and musk and cinnamon draps and such.

A girl in Jacksonville, Ala., has gone crazy with love. She met an attractive young man, and without leave or license, proceeded to fall in love with him, and cherished his memory when he had gone until she, by some means, procured his picture, and then she used to sit up nights to gaze on it. The first intimation of the trouble he had occasioned was the news that she was raving wildly about him, and still she raves.

This is in advance of anything we have heard of, though wide awake and on the spot. We rather suspect that the Advance in its favorite above is indulging in its favorite pastime and "lying like a dog a trotting." However, if we have a girl that raves over the picture of any youth of the city of Montgomery, the sooner the girl gets into the Tuscaloosa Asylum the better. "A girl that would rave over the picture of a Montgomery youth, when we have so many better looking ones here in the flesh, would prefer dog fennel blossoms to a husband."

McAllister, agent of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, is doing a splendid business. The Singer is said to be the best machine now made.

Circuit Court has been in session here since Monday, his Honor, Judge Whitlock presiding with his usual fairness and dignity. The Court only lasts two weeks, owing to a recent change in the law. Among the non-resident members of the bar present, we notice Hon. Jno. T. Heflin, of Talladega, and Capt. Jas. Savage, of Centre.

Sunday night the freedmen of Jacksonville celebrated the first anniversary of their Benevolent Association with torch light procession etc. A fight or two among the least benevolent of the crowd was the consequence. Monday morning Earle Walker was up before his Honor, the Mayor, for indulging in a few familiar quotations, throwing rocks and "rarin' around generally." Ditto several others of the belligerents. Some twenty-five dollars of the skads was the tax laid by his Honor on the noble Earle and company.

ALMOST A FIRE.—Sunday night Mr. D. J. Privett, the efficient Foreman of our Fire Company, as he was ascending the hill leading from the spring up to town, discovered a bright blaze in rear and partly under the residence of Rev J. K. Armstrong. Comprehending the situation, he ran to the house, procured water and extinguished it. It proved to be an ash box on fire, placed partly under the house. The box had burned almost entirely up and the sill and weatherboarding was too hot to bear the hand on. In ten minutes more the fire would have been under full headway and probably the loss of thousands of dollars worth of property might have been the consequence. All of which proves that ash boxes ought to be discarded. This is the third fire in town within the past year originating from ash boxes.

We like to see anything that smacks of home industry or enterprise. A town with plenty of industrious and thoroughly enterprising men is bound to flourish, no matter how hard the times or how unpromising the prospect. Jacksonville has a few of the kind indicated. Among them no one stands out more prominent, according to means, than Mr. JOHN H. CRAWFORD, our old reliable stand-by in the furniture line. His home made furniture has a reputation far and wide for durability and finish; but as he grows older he finds himself unable to continue a large manufacture of it, and therefore he is gradually changing from the manufacturer to the dealer. His practical experience in the furniture business enables him to purchase with judgment the very best, the handsomest and most durable furniture of foreign manufacture. His Furniture Rooms will, after awhile, present as elegant an appearance as many of the more pretentious establishments of Atlanta and other neighboring cities. The only reason that he does not at once give us such an establishment is the want of adequate means at present. But what he cannot do at once, he is doing by degrees. Some days ago he received from Baltimore a very large shipment of every variety of ornamental brackets, towel racks and stands, wall pockets etc., as well as a lot of most beautiful walnut curving for furniture. It is his intention to bring on soon bedroom and parlor sets of every grade from the cheapest to that that is costly. Jacksonville and the country surrounding needs a good furniture store, and can have it by extending due encouragement to Mr. C. Let all of us who may design buying furniture, make our purchases through him.

Farm rights only a few dollars. Buildings already erected can be converted into a dry house with small cost. We hope our farmers will think of the matter and improve the fruit season, good only in this particular section, by the erection of these houses on their places.

oats fruits and vegetables? There no use in the drying line to which it cannot be put with perfect success. Wagon timber can be perfectly dried in it within from fifteen to twenty days; housebuilding lumber in three days and nights; fruits and vegetables within three days. Fruits dried in this house are superior to the sun dried, from the fact that the fly cannot get to it to deposit its egg while drying. The Shakers of Litchfield, Massachusetts first grated off the cob and dried by the old and tedious process, one hundred barrels of corn, which they sold readily, having orders for one hundred and fifty barrels more. In this dry house the corn can be dried on the cob in three days, retaining all its original sweetness, and would command much readier sale than that of the Massachusetts Quakers. Blackberries, very difficult to dry in the sun, and which command a ready market, can be dried by the hundreds of bushels in this house successfully in three days and be ready for market. So it is with tomatoes, the pea and every other kind of vegetable and fruit known. All these things now form an article of market, and are shipped to us from the North. By the use of this great invention we can reverse the order of things and ship North instead of buying as we do now from there. The invention is useful in other ways. Sweet potatoes when first dug can be placed in it and dried to a certain point, and be made to keep without fear of rot, so with apples and other green fruit of that description. For the purpose of drying tobacco it surpasses anything in ever known before.

We have seen a letter from a gentleman in Washington City, who has seen the model in the patent office, in which he proposes to buy the patent of Mr. Hix. He does not so desire, but he will sell State and County rights. Like all original inventors, he is threatened with a loss of the benefit of his invention, through financial inability to push it. Should he once get a start and find the means to bring it to the attention of the public, it will come into universal use. Some men with moderate means could join him, and in our opinion, realize a fortune in a short time.

Farm rights only a few dollars. Buildings already erected can be converted into a dry house with small cost. We hope our farmers will think of the matter and improve the fruit season, good only in this particular section, by the erection of these houses on their places.

MURDER WILL OUT.

Who Killed Gen. Hindman?—The Mystery About to be Cleared Up. [From the Little Rock Republican.]

There has been a rumor afloat for the past few days in respect to the probability of ascertaining who was the murderer or murderers of General Thomas C. Hindman, who was assassinated at Helena, on the 29th of September, 1863, and we are glad to know that his widow is now satisfied that his political enemies had nothing to do with it.

From information received by her through anonymous letters, of the authenticity of which she is said to be satisfied, it was not his political enemies who did the killing, and it was caused by an amateur of his with a lady either in Georgia or Helena. Mrs. H., on last Monday, came to Memphis to consult with her friend, Judge Underwood of Helena, who has known her since infancy. The lady had in her possession two letters; one dated the 17th of March, and the other the 28th, stating that if she would come to the Appeal office in company with Judge Underwood the writer would reveal facts that would lead to the conviction of the guilty parties, all of whom were well known and had been on terms of intimacy with Hindman. Of the result of her visit to Memphis we are not advised.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

San Salvador Destroyed by Earthquake.

APRIL 10, April 5, via HAVANA, April 10.—The city of San Salvador, Central America, has been destroyed by an earthquake. Eight hundred persons perished, and $12,000,000 worth of property was destroyed. The earthquake was followed by a conflagration, and many buildings were burned. For a few days slight shocks of earthquake had occurred, but no serious apprehensions were entertained. It was on the afternoon of the 4th of March, about half past 4, almost without warning, a great shock more than fifteen feet. The ground heaved as a ship in a gale. Terrific thunderings burst from underfoot. Walls tottered and were rent in many places with wide crevices. Roofs sunk, and tiles, &c., were precipitated to the ground. Lamps, pitchers, basins, glass, &c., were overturned and broken. Three violent shocks followed in succession, and the servants commenced to scream piteously and could not be pacified. Wild birds flew to houses. Horses grew frantic in stables, and dogs howling slunk for protection. Every few minutes shakings of less violence occurred. The scene, beggars description; ruined houses, panic-stricken people, men, women and children fleeing to the fields, with valuables hastily collected. Then the ringing of the alarm bells and beating of drums called all the soldiers under arms; for in San Salvador murder and pillage accompany the confusion of great earthquakes, and as the frightened citizens leave the town dusky Indians from the forests prowl for prey into it, only checked by the bayonets of Government troops. These were posted in squads at short distances all over San Salvador.

LADIES.

Ladies everywhere are delighted with Dr. Crook's Hair Restorer. It is cleanly to use, free from deleterious ingredients, gloriously perfumed, gives the hair vigor, imparts to it a rich gloss, restores and preserves its natural color, causes new hair to spring forth, and is the best dressing in the world, being both a restorative and a preservative.

READ THE EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Sarah W. Hall, wife of Mr. J. T. S. Hall, of Nashville, Tennessee, a lady known in that city for many sterling qualities, writes to us under date September 1st, 1868, that "she had no hesitation in recommending the Louisiana Crook's Hair Restorer, as a most valuable hair preparation, completely answering every purpose for which it is intended, and imparting a beautiful glossy appearance to the hair. For sale by all druggists."

HAIR APOLO.

It is a sad thing to pass through life only half alive. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and debility. They complain of no specific disease; they suffer no positive pain; but they have no relish for anything which affords mental or sensual pleasure to their more robust and energetic fellow-beings.

In nine cases out of ten this state of lassitude and torpor is sent from a morbid stomach. Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body. When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food, every organ is starved, every function interrupted.

Now what does common sense suggest under these circumstances of depression? The system needs rousing and strengthening; not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterwards into a more pitiable condition than ever (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary alcoholic stimulant was resorted to), but radically and permanently.

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to the question, founded on the unvarying experience of a quarter of a century, is easily given. In use new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but wake the system up by recuperating the fountain head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support.

By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the despondent will begin to feel its benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves. Perspire until the cure is complete—until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh and muscle, bone and nerve and brain, flows through the channels of circulation, instead of the watery pabulum with which they have heretofore been imperfectly nourished.

For the benefit of our lady readers who are engaged in the cultivation of shrubs and flowers, we copy the following from the Monthly Illustrated Catalogue of Briggs & Bro. Rochester, N. Y.

Flowering Plants Suitable for the South.

Some of our southern friends occasionally write us respecting the adaptability of plants for the South, that we have succeeded well during the whole of the summer, without succumbing to the long dry heat they are there subject to. Our southern friends should bear in mind that it is of the greatest importance that they secure for their plants a great depth of soil, for upon this will depend in a measure a great part of their success. To obtain the best success, the soil should be spaded to a good depth before planting; if as deep as fifteen or eighteen inches, so much the better, and if poor, a good dressing of manure should be spaded in. The depth of soil, thus secured will cause the plants to send down their roots during the driest part of the season into the lower soil prepared for them, thus enabling them to more successfully withstand the hot dry weather, whereas plants, planted on poor thin soils, would dry up and become exhausted. It is likewise important that all flower stems should be cut off as soon as they are out of bloom, by sad so, a second crop of flowers will in many instances be secured, as the plants will not be exhausting themselves in perfecting seed.

We have, after careful consideration concluded that nearly all of the following will be found to be well adapted for and will succeed well in the South. We would like to hear from any of our friends in regard to their success with these plants and flowers, as it will be somewhat of a guide to us on future occasions.

ANNUALS.—Abronia, Agrostis, Alonchus, Amaranthus, Andropogon, Aster, Balsam, Baccharis, Calceola, Calceolus, Dianthus, Eranthis, Echinops, Gallardia, Ligularia, Lupinus, Marigold, Martynia, Mesembrianthemum, Mignone, Myrtilus, Nicotiana, Oenothera, Pansy, Peltandra, Phlox Drummondii, Poppy, Portulaca, Ricinus, Salpiglossis, Salvia, Scabiosa, Senecio, Stock, Tropaeolum, Verbena, Zinnia.

CLIMBING PLANTS.—Cardiospermum, Cobaea, Convolvulus, Dolichos, Gourd Ornamental, Ipomoea, Lobelia, and Pereskia.

PERENNIALS.—Aquilaria, Campanula, Centaurea, Chionodoxa, Delphinium Perennial, &c., for all of which see the First Quarterly or January number.

Some of the plants specified as Annuals, will in the South, live through the winter, and will assume their true character—Perennials.

The Tritoma is a superb plant for the South, and will give complete satisfaction. Anemone Japonica, and Alba, as well as Tricorys Grandiflora, will be found of great service.

WE WILL MAKE SPECIAL SELECTIONS.—Sometimes our friends write us enclosing money, stating that they wish to get some flower seeds, but do not know what kinds would be best for them to order, that would be adapted to their climate. To all such, we say that we shall endeavor to assist them with our experience and judgment in selecting none but the best varieties adapted to the purpose and wants of those who write to us, giving a description of their location and soil, &c.; likewise stating if flowers are wanted for show or for frequent cutting for bouquets, &c.

The Eastman Atlanta Business College.

This Institution has achieved a success which is unparalleled in the history of Commercial Colleges. Starting in Atlanta, Ga., May 9th, 1871, with four students, it has already sent out to the business world nearly THREE HUNDRED STUDENTS to attest its superior merits. The secret of its wonderful success is this: it is the only College in the South that is conducted on the ACTUAL BUSINESS PLAN. It keeps up to the letter of its advertisements. It is conducted by men who have had years of experience as practical accountants, business men, and teachers. The total cost for a full course including board, washing, tuition, books, and stationery will not exceed $120. For specimens of Penmanship and College Journal containing full information, Address: G. E. DETWILER, Pres't, P. O. Box 536, Atlanta, Ga. mar. 22-84.

THE MOBILE

LIFE INSURANCE CO.

This first class Southern Company is a grand success. It has issued over One thousand policies during the past year. It was organized by the leading business men in the State with the view of stopping the flow of money to Northern Insurance Companies. It has succeeded wonderfully. Over One Hundred Thousand Dollars have been kept in this State that would have otherwise been sent out.

ITS CAPITAL, $300,000. Is securely invested, and its accumulations are all kept in our midst, thereby enhancing the value of our property and developing our resources. Every Alabamian should insure in this safe, home company.

I. Because every dollar is kept in our State instead of being sent out.

II. It is economically and prudently managed.

III. Its managers are gentlemen whom we all know—and whom we can trust; they are well and favorably known throughout the South.

The Gadsden, board Col. Kyle, President, has directors in Gadsden and Jacksonville.

R. O. RANDALL, Manager of Agencies.

L. W. Grant and J. M. Carroll, Directors in Jacksonville.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Calhoun County.

Probate Court, March 25th, 1873.

THIS day came William B. Green, and produced in Court a paper purporting to be the last will and testament of William Green, deceased, and moves the Court to admit the said will to probate, and to issue letters testamentary under said will, to the said William B. Green, Executor.

It is therefore ordered, that the 21st day of April, 1873, be set for the hearing of said application; and that notice thereof be given by publication in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper published in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day, as a notice to Andrew T. Green, Louis Allen, wife of Adison L. Allen, and Mary P. Green, wife of Pinkney Green, who are non-resident Legatees, under said will, to be and appear at a Special Term of said Court, to be held at the Court house of said county, on said 21st day of April, 1873, and show, if anything they have to allege, why said will should not be admitted to probate; and let there be no other issue to the said William B. Green.

A. WOODS, Judge of Probate.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Calhoun County.

Probate Court, 2nd day of April, 1873.

Estate of Patton Brothers, deceased. This day came P. H. Brothers, the Administrator of said estate, and filed his statement of accounts, vouchers, and evidence for an annual settlement of his administration. It is ordered that the 2nd day of April, 1873, be appointed a day on which to make such settlement, at which time all persons interested, can appear and contest said settlement if they think proper.

POETRY.
WAY-FARERS.
The way is long my darling,
The road is rough and steep,
And fast across the evening sky
I see the shadows sweep.
But, oh! my love, my darling,
No ill to us can come;
No terror, turns us from the path,
For we are going home.
Your feet are tired, my darling—
So tread the tender foot,
But think, when we are there at last,
How sweet the rest will be!
For lo! the lamps are lighted,
And yonder gleaming dome,
Before us, shines the star,
Which guides our footsteps home.
We've lost the flowers we gathered
So early in the morn;
And on we go, with empty hands,
And garments soiled and worn.
But lo! the dawn is breaking,
Will out to meet us here,
And there flowers and white robes
There wait for us at home!
Art cold, my love, and famished?
Art faint and sore athirst?
Be patient yet a little while,
And joyous as at first,
For oh! the sun sets never
Within that land of bloom,
And thou shalt eat the bread of life,
And drink life's wine at home.
The wind blows cold my darling,
Adown the mountain steep,
And thick across the evening sky
The dark shadows creep;
But, oh! my love, press onward,
Whatever trials come,
For in the way the Father set
We two are going home.
DOES IT MEAN WAR?
All the Available Troops in the Country
Concentrated Along the Rio Grande
Seven Regiments Now on the Ground
Secretary Belknap, Phil Sheridan
and the Old Generals in Consultation.
SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, March 29, 1873.
Are we drifting into a war? Is General Grant preparing the way for that millennium when the world shall "become one nation, speaking one language and when armies and navies will no longer be required," by adding, whereas our sick and lawless neighbor, the Rio Grande, is our glorious constellation of States? Is it a menace, an army of protection or an army of invasion that our troops are concentrating in Texas, and particularly on its western boundary?
These are questions that are being asked by every one hereabouts—by those who for years have been predicting that such an event would soon come to pass, as well as by those who have laughed at the idea as chimerical. For the last five years a war with Mexico has seemed probable, but never before has it appeared in the military, unusual in these piping times of peace, has prevailed in the State. Troops changing station, repairs and refittings in the Quartermaster's Department and inspections are the order of the day. The Rio Grande, between Laredo and Brownsville, which not long since was almost entirely without cavalry, an arm of the service most necessary there, has now the Ninth Cavalry. General Edward Hatch in command, with headquarters at Kingwood, besides the Twenty-fourth Infantry, General Doubleday in command, with headquarters at Brownsville; while at Fort Clark, fifteen miles distant from the Rio Grande, ten companies of the Fourth Cavalry will soon be concentrated under General McKensie, an officer who though young in years and with a reputation that would already satisfy many older men is ambitious in seeking fresh laurels. It is also believed that the troops occupying the northern and north-eastern frontier of Texas are under orders to march south.
The following is a list of the regiments now stationed in Texas, with their respective commanding officers, viz.:
Fourth Cavalry, Colonel R. S. McKensie.
Ninth Cavalry Colonel Edward Hatch.
Tenth Cavalry, Lieutenant Colonel A. D. McCook.
Eleventh Cavalry, Colonel W. H. Wood.
Twenty-fourth Infantry, Colonel Doubleday.
Twenty-fifth Infantry, Colonel Andrews.
All of which can be made disposable by the addition of two regiments General Pope's command. The nineteenth Cavalry, in New Orleans, could also be added, so that in six weeks an available force of 5,000 regulars can be thrown on the Rio Grande. Texas would be glad to add 5,000 of her horsemen, which, acting as irregular cavalry, would be difficult to surpass. And in New Mexico another column of 5,000 regulars and volunteers may be readily organized. These are facts about which there is no secrecy, and which, according to me, are significant of future events. General Augur, commanding this department, returned yesterday from a trip to the Rio Grande, and he is expected General Belknap, Secretary of War, together with General Sheridan. If any fighting is to be done, by whom should the word "Go" be given if not by Sheridan, the fighter par excellence? The names of Augur, McCook, Doubleday and others known to us years before our late war, are to be lamented as guarantees of success.
That the annexation of Mexico, or a removal of our frontier further west, is justifiable and necessary is beyond dispute. The annexation of our stolen lands, our murdered citizens. Witness, too, those roving Indians, our pest and our terror who find in her towns already marked for their plunder and a refuge from our troops. Forbearance ceases to be a virtue with such relentless starting us in the face for years. "But our sister Republic," is the cry. A Republic forsooth of factions and military bands! A Republic preying on itself, semi-civilized, inane.
Senator Schurz and the Salary Steal
[From the St. Louis Democrat.—Rep.]
We record with great pleasure the fact that Senator Schurz declined to receive the $5,000 of back pay voted by the last Congress; and with equal pleasure we record a similar fact in favor of Vice-President Wilson. But we confess to more concern for the future than for the past of this increased pay. When all is told about the money refunded, it makes an honorable record for those who refused, but it only reduces by a trifle the amount of steal which will at half rate foot up a million and a half. Let those who have got the money keep it, and much good may it do them. We object, however, to having the steal repeated every future Congress, and therefore we insist upon agitating the question of repeal at an issue in all future campaigns, until accomplished. Mr. Erastus Wells, member from the Second District of this city, promises to introduce a bill on the first day of the December session to re-establish the old rate of $5,000 per annum. He is doing his duty, and we heartily applaud him. We are sure that the people of the country, and the men who vote against him, may be far wiser to public life.

APPOINTMENT.

A True Story of General Lee's Surrender.—An Orchard of Relics.

["Viator" in Richmond Dispatch.]

"The situation" at Appomattox on the 9th of April 1865, when

Gen. Lee sent a flag of truce to ask an interview with Gen. Grant, was simply this: There were only 7,500

jaded, famished Confederates with arms in their hands, nearly surrounded by eighty thousand Federal soldiers, already in position, with re-enforcements constantly arriving. Gordon fell back through the village and moved to meet an attack of Sheridan on the flank, while

Gen. Chamberlayne led the advance corps of the Army of the James into the Court-house. A battery of the Richmond Howitzers, which had been engaged at Big Bethel in 1861, stationed in the yard of Mr.

Peers, on the extreme northeast corner of the village, fired the last gun of the day and withdrew as the blue waves were encircling it. The Federal picket line was advanced beyond the village, and that little band of heroic spirits seemed about to be immolated, when suddenly the white flag was displayed, and the firing ceased. There have been published so many sensational reports of the meeting between the two commanders that I am glad to be able to refute them by giving

GEN. LEE'S OWN ACCOUNT OF WHAT

OCCURRED,

as he gave it to some friends at his house in Lexington, but a few days before his last illness. He said that he had for duty that morning not eight thousand men, and that when he learned from Gordon that there was a heavy infantry force in his front, he decided to see General Grant and ascertain the terms upon which he could end the contest. But before going to meet him he left orders with Longstreet and Gordon to hold their commands in readiness, determined, as he was to cut his way through or perish in the attempt, such terms were grant-
